

Red Hordes Overrun Two Allied Positions

New Soviet Regime Dealt Major Blow In United Nations

United Nations, N. Y., (AP) — The U. N. pasted an overwhelming defeat yesterday on a major Soviet propaganda campaign started in the Stalin era and carried on here by the new Malenkov regime.

It was designed to brand the United States as an aggressor against Iron Curtain countries.

The 60-nation Political Committee voted 41-5 against a Czechoslovak satellite resolution introduced in the U. N. while Stalin reigned but pushed with greater vigor by the Communists after Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov took over.

The Reds won a small comfort in the final vote; 14 countries abstained, partly because the West had defended Jews and Zionism against Red assaults. Those abstaining were Argentina and Guatemala of the Latin American group and the following Arab-Asian countries: Afghanistan, Burma, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Yemen.

The majority result, however, was interpreted by Western delegates as a vote of confidence in the United States and the Eisenhower administration's repeated statements that it is ready to meet the Russians halfway and talk peace.

The vote came as Andrei Y. Vishinsky, former Soviet foreign minister who has been named permanent delegate here, landed in New York from the liner Queen Mary. Vishinsky was seasick on part of the Atlantic voyage but surprisingly cordial during the trip.

U. N. delegates expressed hope he will show quickly whether Malenkov actually means to adopt a softer policy or keep up the customary Russian tactics of opposition to the West on every count.

It proposed that the U. S. Assembly call on the United States to repeat the 1951 Mutual Security Act which set aside 100 million dollars to help the free nations and assist persons escaping through the Iron Curtain.

It also asked the Assembly to condemn as "acts of aggression" and as interference in the internal affairs of the Moscow bloc lands the "subversive activities organized by the United States of America."

New York Faces Prospect Of New Nuisance Taxes

New York, (AP) — Eight million New Yorkers yesterday faced the prospect of new nuisance taxes and a subway fare boost.

The nuisance taxes may affect beer, theater tickets and overnight street parking.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey signed bills in Albany during the day that provided for an independent transit authority to take over the city's 241 miles of subways and put them on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The authority has the power to boost the present 10-cent fare. City officials think a fare increase a certainty—to 12½ or 15 cents.

Operating economies also are in the offing to wipe out the transit system's 50 million dollar a year deficit.

County Urges Federal Funds For Airport

"Vital interest" in Mount Pocono Airport was expressed yesterday by Monroe County Commissioners.

A Civil Aeronautics Administration budget is up for consideration by a Congressional appropriations committee. The budget includes a sum for developing Mount Pocono airport.

If the Federal appropriation is to stay in the budget, the committee would have to be convinced of the need.

Commissioners yesterday sent letters urging that the funds be held for the Mount Pocono airport development.

The letters went to Rep. Francis E. Walter, Sen. Edward Martin and Sen. James H. Duff.

It said in part: "We, the commissioners of Monroe County, are vitally interested in the development of this airport and solicit your cooperation in having funds included in the CAA budget for fiscal 1954 so that improvements to this airport may be completed . . ."

The letters were signed by Amzi F. Altemose, W. Adolph Rake and Granville Shifler.

The board of commissioners was alerted by a letter from Dr. Louis T. Powers, Mount Pocono burgess, which was read at yesterday's meeting in the Court House.

Powers reported he had been notified by the American Municipal Association of Washington and Chicago.

In a letter the association warned, "In order for this project (Mount Pocono Airport development) to be started in the near future, it is essential that this committee (of congressmen) appropriate the funds now requested for the fiscal 1954 budget of CAA."

"In order to obtain the funds which the CAA needs to start work at the airport . . . you should wire and write your congressmen and express your interest in receiving aid for your airport improvement . . ."

The way the "appropriations" of federal money works is this:

For every dollar the local district puts up, the State will put up a dollar. Then the Federal government will match both.

The result: every dollar the local district puts into improving the airport at Mount Pocono to bring in commercial air traffic, actually will buy four dollars' worth of improvements—provided the funds are earmarked in CAA's budget.

Safe Protection Against All Forms Of Polio Claimed For New Vaccine

By Alton L. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Reporter

New York, (AP) — The new polio vaccine has passed its first human tests on 90 children and adults with flying colors.

But "there will be no polio vaccine" for general use this summer.

This was announced last night by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, 38, young virus researcher of the University of Pittsburgh.

The creamy vaccine, homogenized in mineral oil, gave all 90 persons protective antibodies against all three types of virus which can cause human polio, he said. And he added it is perfectly safe.

They've kept this protection so far for six to eight weeks—they were vaccinated only that long ago. But in one other experiment, protection has lasted 4½ months so far. This raises hope this vaccine will do the job for months, perhaps years.

But 90 persons is too small a number to say that the vaccine will actually work for everyone, Dr. Salk made clear. He indicated many more careful tests must be made, on hundreds or thousands of people.

The pace of progress is fast, he said, but must continue step by step to make sure of this vaccine, first disclosed last January.

Unanswered questions include this one: might some people react unfavorably, just like some people get allergies to eggs or penicillin?

Twenty years ago a vaccine was released prematurely, Dr. Salk said. But there were kickbacks, some cases of paralysis and deaths after vaccinations, because not enough was then known about the tricky polio virus.

Last night's announcement is one of great drama, about the most promising vaccine yet to appear. It represents one culmination of years of work by hundreds of scientists, and 18 million dollars in March of Dimes funds.

Dr. Salk spoke at a press-science dinner given by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, amplifying a long medical report in the journal of the American Medical Association. The father of three children himself, he is professor of research bacteriology at the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Salk told in the Medical Journal of testing 161 persons, 4 to 40 years old, with several forms of vaccine.

The best-bet vaccine is a creamy one made out of all three type of polio virus, grown in test-tube farms, and then killed or inactivated with formaldehyde.

Disarmed this way, the viruses can't cause polio, but still can stimulate the human body to produce antibodies, the agents to fight off invading live viruses.

The deadened viruses are mixed in mineral oil and an emulsifier, making an oily vaccine like homogenized milk. The oil greatly steps up the power of the vaccine to stimulate antibodies.

Two weeks after this creamy vaccine was injected into muscles, 90 persons all had antibodies against all three types of virus which can cause human polio, Dr. Salk reported. They developed as much, or more, antibodies as if they had actually been invaded by live viruses.

Seventh Division infantrymen abandoned the last third of the shell-striped hill at dawn yesterday. Allied planes and artillery bombed, seared and blasted Old Baldy all day yesterday and throughout the night. But observation pilots at daylight reported the Chinese atop the hill had burrowed deeper into their bunkers and had improved their position.

Victorious atop Old Baldy, the Chinese hurled their second round at sunset yesterday against Bunker Hill, five miles east of the truce town of Panmunjom, and the network of outposts stretching to the northeast.

About 750 Chinese hit Bunker Hill, a strategic fort on an invasion route to Seoul from the north.

The Chinese launched a three-pronged attack. It surged against the three hills and the lower ground between them. Fighting raged hand-to-hand. The Reds braced intense small arms fire and hurled satchel charges of explosives into U. S. bunkers.

Then with precise timing, the Chinese threw in powerful new forces at two of the outposts and the Marines were ordered to withdraw at 2:30 a.m. today. The two outposts are 25 miles west of Old Baldy.

First reports from the battle front were confused. There was one report of an action still continuing in the sector.

The purpose of ground fighting, leading to the worst Allied setback in the five months since the battle of the Kumus Ridge, was accompanied by renewed air action.

Marine prop-driven Corsairs tangled with Communist MiG jets in three dogfights over the Korean West Coast. One MiG was reported damaged.

Normally propeller-driven planes do not operate in far North-Western Korea, so indications were that the MiGs had winged far South of their usual haunts.

Okinawa-based Superforts blasted Northeastern Korea near the Wonsan area last night with 120 tons of bombs.

U.S. Supporting French Aims In Indochina

Washington, (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles told Premier Rene Meyer and other French leaders yesterday that the United States supports their aim of wiping out the Communists-led revolt in Indochina as soon as possible.

Dulles, however, called for more detailed information and plans before taking up the question of increased American aid.

The secretary, with Treasury Secretary Humphrey and other Eisenhower administration officials took up the Indochina issue at an afternoon session with the visiting French leaders which lasted two hours and 40 minutes.

This followed an earlier meeting between President Eisenhower and the visiting French government leaders aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg.

Central Counties Have Snowstorm

By The Associated Press
Snow flurries continued over much of Pennsylvania last night in the aftermath of the first storm of spring.

Rain and snow sent rivers and streams rising but forecasters said there was no flood threat anywhere in the commonwealth.

Scattered snow flurries over mountain areas were expected to continue into today but most of the state was expected to have cloudy, cold weather.

Wednesday night's snow accumulated to a depth of three to six inches in the Central Pennsylvania area. Phillipsburg reported five inches drilled by the heavy winds.

Donald Heller New Owner Of Arnold's Men's Store

By James B. Gaffney

Donald Heller, 133 S. Courtland St., is the new owner of Ray Arnold's men's clothing store, 120 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

Yesterday Heller disclosed the store will be completely remodeled in about three weeks, with modern fixtures and display cabinets installed. New stock continues to arrive, Heller said, and the line of merchandise carried by Arnold will be continued.

The new owner, son-in-law of Arnold, has been affiliated with the store 15 years. During this period he learned the tailoring trade and is able to alter any clothing.

Born in East Stroudsburg and educated in the public schools, there he served with the U. S. Army in Italy from 1945 to 1946. He married Lillian Arnold 13 years ago and the couple has two children, Donald Raymond, 11, and Janet, 5.

Heller has been active in Little League baseball since its inception in his region and last year managed the entry of Peter-Arnold and Howell. He also is active in East Stroudsburg Methodist Church affairs.

The Arnolds have been clothiers since the 1880s, the retiring store owner said. While he's leaving the ownership of the establishment, Arnold will assist his son-in-law for a period of time.

Arnold formerly was president of the East Stroudsburg Merchants Association and has held Chamber of Commerce membership since the organization was born. He also was a member of Stroudsburg Lions and East Stroudsburg Exchange Clubs and is a councilman in the East Stroudsburg Lutheran Church.

A veteran businessman who operated a concession at Pocono Manor for 25 years is entering the retail field for himself and expects to complete a modern store on Route 611 at Tannersville in two months.

Joseph Williams, resident at Pocono Manor for 31 years, is responsible for the building now under way on the west side of Route 611, just south of the community.

The building, 75 by 25 feet, will be of cinder block construction with stone veneer finish. It will contain a luncheonette, novelty articles, gift packages and patent medicines.

Tomorrow marks the first anniversary of Herb's Men's Shop, 619 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Operated by Herb Zubow, the location for 32 years contained the Penn Perfumery Cut Rate Store, an enterprise owned by Herb's parents, Louis and Esther Zubow.

Herb opened the modern shop with an ultra front March 28, 1952 to cater to "smartly dressed men". His merchandise stock includes suits, sport coats, slacks, shirts, underwear, robes, top coats and other wearing apparel of men's clothing. After opening, Herb secured the

"SOMETHING NEW EVERY DAY"

Investigator Warns Against Untagged Dogs Running Loose

Dog law enforcement authorities of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture moved in here yesterday after a wave of complaints from local residents about free-running, unlicensed dogs. Edward L. Banks, dog law investigator, said complaints came both from citizens and officials in the region.

Most of them, the enforcement officer disclosed, dealt with dogs running at large, both licensed and unlicensed.

Most of the complaints came from East Stroudsburg, he said.

Checking at the office of County Treasurer P. A. Rockefeller, Banks found a large percentage of dog owners have failed to purchase their 1953 dog licenses.

"There's just two ways for an owner to protect himself and his dog—get it licensed and keep the dog under control at all times," Banks warned.

Don't Let The Red Cross Fail!

For the first time in the history of the American Red Cross Chapter here the threat of failure to achieve a roll call fund quota hangs over this famous organization.

Four days remain in the 1953 campaign for $14,750. At this moment the fund is $4,293 short.

That means that better than $1,000 a day must be collected if the people of Monroe County are to escape the stigma of failure in behalf of an organization with a proud record of no failures in service to them.

This is the time for a bit of soul searching. If you gave $5, $10, $15, $25 in previous campaigns, and have given $1, $2, $3, $5 to this one, you are a contributor to failure.

Of course there are all sorts of drives and benefit events for many worthy causes.

But here is an agency which on past performance alone deserves a bit less shabby treatment.

On present performance—take the Blood Bank system the Red Cross operates—this organization should be counting the last pennies of its 14,750 quota.

Add to the Blood Bank the tremendous service given to men and women in the Armed Forces and to their families and sources of other services and you have sound cause for review of your gift.

If you have not given, it's an easy matter to send or take your check or cash to Red Cross headquarters in Stroudsburg.

Again we say it's time for a bit of soul searching. You'll find you need the insurance of the Red Cross and its services to you and your fellow citizens to a degree that you can't afford to buy it so cheaply.

Mail Call Is A Lonely Time

(From The Publisher's Auxiliary)

A soldier wrote the Houlton (Me.) Pioneer Times and Bernard E. (Bunny) Esters, the editor and former National Editorial Assn. president, printed the letter. Thus, an editorial campaign was born.

"We are giving our lives away for the people back home and we think that they should pay more attention (to us)," the soldier wrote from Korea.

His request was simple.

He merely would like "for the people back home to write to us more often."

We have seen this sort of campaign in several papers around the country. It would be most wonderful if every paper could conduct a similar drive.

There are hundreds of former service men now editing newspapers who either know or have observed the next-to-the-worst wartime experience—the matter of standing outside the company orderly tent during mail call, watching others receive their letters and then walking away empty handed.

The armed forces didn't sidetrack almost everything but food and ammunition for the mail because the COs wanted word from home. Mail or no mail is often the difference between fighting morale and no morale.

The soldier who wrote Bunny Esters asked:

"Please see what you can do to have the folks at home write to us more often."

Since a soldier from Maine lives—and dies—the same way as a soldier from any other state, we pass the request along to you.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Camino Comes Clear

Being a review by Elmer (Texas) Twitchell, a critic who is as confused in his criticism of "C'minno Real" as Tennessee Williams seems to have been in his authorship of Broadway's most talked about play.

Here is a mystery play that is the complete mystification. We have long contended that the Whodunit had gone far enough and that the time had come for its replacement by the Whatzit. Now our contention has been substantiated. Mr. Williams has given the theater something new, not due to what it is. We have not been so moved in the theater since we saw a Shakespearean troupe play Uncle Tom's Cabin in a dark theater with the bloodhounds played by actors in Benda masks, and with Eliza making up her own ice as she fled across the frozen river Little Eva, we remember, was represented by symbols or castiness or something. There was no Uncle Tom, due to an accident in transportation.

We liked the opening of "Camino Real" in which Kilroy comes down a cosmic stairway, the elevator service having been cut, asks the speaker at the Rotary Club lunch, "Where am I?" and gets the answer, "The wire is busy." Slowly the action works up to a situation where the heroine sees clearly that she must either marry the man or fall Grant at Vicksburg. She decides to steal second, and not refund the money. Here three characters, Abdullah, A Ratt and Lady Mulligan arrive on a broomstick, played by two bassoon players and confess to the killing in a dispute with the wardrobe mistress who is so overworked she has declared the whole episode a border violation and gone over to the theater Guild. We see clearly at this point the truth of the old adage that it never gets well if you pick it and that whenever the story gets dull you can stage a sprint into the audience, whether permitting Esmerelda refuses to abandon her child, despite the clear mandate of the United Nations and there is a tense scene in which a pigeon wearing a Homburg hat enters an illuminated tight rope, indicating through sheer symbolism that the electoral college result must be accepted no matter what Truman thought. We now begin to see why civilization by whom the footprint left in front of the ice box is meaningless, due to the heavy fog and so many people running Helter Skelter, with Skelter winning by seven points in an overtime contest.

Here a character called First Street Ciepner enters with Second Street Cleaner and four dancing girls known as the Four Brooms. The First Cleaner walks to the pitcher's box to see if he has the signal for the next pitch correctly. Shelly and Keats is up. Don Quixote's ball. Ten yards to go. "You may tie me to the railroad tracks if you wish but I will never sign those papers," says the White Queen. This leaves the Brooklyn Club helpless and they would lose if he had the action of a Third Street Cleaner who steps into this dramatic situation and bids four trump. Three notes on a piccolo to indicate the message "Drop that gun!" Then the action having moved nine blocks north, it having been established that the Hobbies were right, give or take a few neon lights. Now comes the finale where the mother leaves everything to a national media board played by two cuckoos, a pinwheel named Mabel and a retired guppie. Desdemona elopes with Casanova. The total effect threatens to bring back prohibition. The moral is clear. "Facing backwards as you go up a moving stairway may be peculiar but it causes more talk." War looks inevitable. Keep your eye on the Balkans, the Philes, Formosa and the revolving door! Next week: Leo Durocher and the seven Sutherland sisters in "Cos Cob, I Love You."

Russia seems to have invented an olive branch which is jet-propelled and can fire 3,500 shots a minute. . . . We know a TV family which boasts that the kids are so smart they can name every beer made in America. Death and the mass funeral of a family of ten killed in a new auto when a trailer truck swerved out of the right lane has aroused the nation to new heights of indignation over reckless operation of trucks everywhere, not a day passing without scores of accidents involving them.

George Sokolsky Says...

Eisenhower May Go Down In American History As 'The Greatest Compromiser'

GROUP OPINION

I was arguing with an editor about the Bohlen nomination and we both stopped short as we came up with the central trouble of personnel in a free society. Men like Stalin or Hitler never are involved with such problems: they make the decisions and then try to find the men to carry them out. If a man fails, he might get killed for the failure.

In a free society, everything is achieved by the compromises which are inevitable in the pursuit of a meeting of the minds among many on a team, or on a group of teams, or even with the opposition. This is what we are now experiencing in Washington, with the added feature that the emphasis is on group decisions. All sorts of advisory committees seem to be organized for the purpose of analyzing data and visiting the President.

Part of this function is the proper authority of Congress under the Constitution: the responsibility for decision rests solely on the President, no matter who advises him. Yet, the tendency to find a meeting of the minds is so marked that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower may go down in American history as "The Great Compromiser," just as Lincoln has come down as "The Great Emancipator."

Perhaps because the Republicans have so narrow a majority in both the Senate and the House, the Administration tends to seek compromises with the Democrats immediately.

Still undecided is when the public announcement should be made.

Some of the President's political advisers are urging this be held up until the special committee of the Kansas Legislature has reported on its investigation of Roberts. It is claimed the inside word in Topeka is that the committee will exonerate him of any legal action and thus "enhance" his exodus as National Chairman.

Other White House advisers are holding that Roberts' elimination from the National Committee should be made known at once, and regardless of the findings of the investigating committee.

These counsellors are telling the President he should handle the matter by announcing Roberts' successor.

Their No. 1 choice is former Senator Fred Seaton.

The young, able Nebraska publisher is highly regarded in all Republican circles. He was one of the President's closest lieutenants throughout last year's campaign and was offered a top White House post, but declined because of the demands of his private business due to the death of his father.

Roberts' pay as National Chairman was $32,000 a year plus expenses.

However, he was subjected to sharp grilling by the Senate Finance Committee.

Many of these corporations have been cited for violation of the laws which the Commission enforces.

Howrey's clients warmly supported him for appointment to the agency.

Senator Charles Potter (R., Mich.) questioned him particularly on this matter.

"Did you seek the job or did the job seek you?" asked Potter. "What I'm trying to get at is whether Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, or some of your other clients came to you and said, 'Now, we would like to have you on the Trade Commission.'

"They did not come to me," replied Howrey. "However, I did have the support of all my clients, including Firestone. But I don't think they had any ulterior motives in putting me on the Commission because they know very well that once I am on the Commission I can never be of any help to them."

Scotrun Girl Places First In Allentown Spelling Bee

Frances Mooney, 17, of Scotrun, was grand prize winner in a spelling contest this week at Lehigh Valley Dairy auditorium in Allentown.

Like most of the other girls at Pocono Township High School, where she is a junior, Frances wears a dog collar around her ankle.

"If you're going steady you wear it on the right ankle. If you're available you wear it on your left," Frances explained, quickly pulling her skirt down over her ankles.

Wasn't taking any chances, she said.

Her mother broke in. Frances was fond of "boys" and "spaghetti" in approximately that order, she remarked with a laugh.

Frances also likes roller skating, sports of all kinds, history and Latin. Her history teacher at Pocono is Richard DeHaven. He is also her guidance interviewer.

"Guidance has been a big help at our school," she says. "Someone is always there to help you when something comes up."

A $300 savings bond which Frances got for winning the spelling contest will probably be used as part of her college tuition. She intends to major in psychology or journalism.

The auburn-haired, slender young girl is a member of "The Pokonian" school magazine staff where she writes poetry, features and news stories. Writing is one of her major interests along with the snare drum she plays in the school band and sewing.

She is a member of Our Lady of Victory Roman Catholic Church in Tannersville.

Brucellosis Tests Start In Jackson

Rapid strides have been made in some townships in Monroe County on the sign-up and testing for the control of brucellosis of dairy and beef cattle.

In Jackson Township the committee of five dairymen, headed by William C. Bond, secured a 98 per cent sign-up of all herds early in March. Authorization for the test was then secured from the Bureau of Animal Industry in Harrisburg and Dr. L. G. Kutsher of East Stroudsburg started testing Monday.

In Eldred Township the committee, headed by Adam C. Kuehner, secured a 100 per cent sign-up. Authorization has been given for testing as soon as possible.

Committees in Ross and Polk Townships organized on Monday and Tuesday night, respectively, through the assistance of the County Agent A. E. Ifft. Its town chairmen are Alfred Getz for Ross and David Griffith for Polk.

These committees will meet again on April 6 and 7 to total the results of the sign-up. The committee in Chestnuthill Township, headed by Paul Everett, is about finished with their work.

Pocono Township was signed up about 10 years ago and has been tested regularly for brucellosis during the past five or six years. Very little reaction has been found.

to attend meetings, Friday night is usually "date night" and that pretty well takes care of a choice between going to Grange and another alternative.

Both mother and daughter agree, however, that there was more to it than mere "luck."

Frances has high regard for her spelling coach, Mrs. Marguerite Walton, at Pocono. Mrs. Walton also served as coach for another Pocono student, Emma Possinger, who won a first award in recent district forensics competition.

Missionary To Tell Of Red Prison

A missionary recently released from a Chinese Communist prison camp will be principle speaker at county Presbyterian churches this weekend.

Rev. John D. Hayes will recount his experiences tonight before combined congregations of Mount Bethel and Portland Churches.

Palm Sunday, March 29, Rev. Hayes will be heard at Church of the Mountain, Delaware Water Gap at 11 a.m. and at Shawnee Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m.

He appears locally under auspices of the Foreign Missions Board of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

During the past week he has addressed groups at Stroudsburg First Presbyterian Church and a family night gathering for Middle Smithfield residents at the new Snydersville property.

He was imprisoned two and one-half years by the Japanese during World War Two and for ten months by Communists after outbreak of the Korean war.

These committees will meet again on April 6 and 7 to total the results of the sign-up. The committee in Chestnuthill Township, headed by Paul Everett, is about finished with their work.

Smithfield PTA Honors Former Pupil

Smithfield—Tribute to Kenneth Roth, former student in Smithfield School was paid by the Parent Teachers Association here this week when they met at the school.

It was announced Roth won honors for humorous declamation in the forensic contest at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, gained similar recognition in Northampton recently. He will enter the state finals at Pittsburgh next month, it was reported.

Pupils of the first grade were in charge of the program, presenting information concerning aviation and planes. Their class, taught by Mrs. Jonas May, also won the attendance banner.

Forms for school insurance have been received, it was announced. The policies, covering all but the summer months, go into effect April 10 for one year and will be taken home by pupils.

A nominating committee comprised of Meldon Overfield, Allen Sterner and Mrs. Esther Scott was appointed. Named as the auditing committee were Mrs. Daniel Marvin, Mrs. T. Edward Terrell and Mrs. Gordon Stettler.

Mrs. James Livezey has accepted the position as school cook for May, it was announced. She replaced Mrs. John Place who will return in the fall.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Hazel Lonsdale, assisted by mothers of first grade pupils.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Ideas seem to run in batches, and within the last few weeks I've had stories in which the programs were borrowed from television shows.

The Juvenile Jury at Middle Smithfield PTA, for instance, the "Sense and Nonsense" and "Twenty Questions" type of programs for two more.

I'm just waiting for Sunday School picnic weather to have some of the stunts from "Beat the Clock" embodied in the program along with the traditional three-legged race and potato race.

And in more and more serious programs, ideas developed in studies of "group dynamics" are sessions, panel discussions, walking rehearsals, role-playing.

Serious programs or just for fun, the whole trend is toward more group participation. People who argue themselves into an opinion are much more likely to stick to it than people who are talked into it by a speaker; people who take part in the entertainment have more fun than those who just watch.

That's the modern theory, anyway. And it seems to be working.

Social Action Theme Of Panel At Aux. Meeting

Social education in action was the theme of the panel discussion at the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church on Wednesday night, arranged by Mrs. T. J. Breitwieser, secretary of that committee.

Mrs. F. Lynn Lantz spoke on the United Nations; Mrs. Jesse Flory on phases of charity work in Monroe County; Mrs. Elwood Grant on "The Christian," Monday Through Saturday, and Elwood Smith, a former prisoner of war in Germany, who told what the Red Cross did for prisoners of war.

Mrs. Ashton Burrows Sr. was in charge of devotions and there was music by the auxiliary chorus. The Mary-Martha Circle served as hostesses.

Adams Homel's Scene Of Meeting

Brodheadsville—The WSCS of the St. Luke's Methodist Church, Melihany, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adams, instead of at the home of Mrs. Jerome Blakeslee owing to sickness there. Devotional period was held and a social hour enjoyed.

Refreshments were served to the following members and visitors: Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Levergood, Mrs. Gladys Raughley, Mrs. Lloyd Faust, Mrs. Clyde Deitrich, Mrs. Lillie Green, Mrs. Charles Hauch and the hostess, Mrs. Ernest Adams. The following were visitors: Miss Shirley Adams, Peggy Hauck, Ronald Adams, Wayne Adams and Mr. Ernest Adams. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Faust.

The following members were present: John Dennis, Joan Armitage, Verna, Vee, Sam and Howard Blakeslee, Grace and Carol Hagerman, David Schoonover, Teddy Williams, Walter Shafer, Louise Pensyl, Shirley and Kevin Stout, Gale and Sandra Fisher, Helen, Kathy and Mike Poorstra, Martha Haney, Jim Wallace and Monica Boyd.

The next meeting will be held at the home of John Dennis on Tuesday, April 28.

Pupils Have Own Juvenile Jury For PTA

One of the suggestions which members of the Middle Smithfield Parent Teachers Association brought back from the school for parents was a widening of the means of communication between children and parents. This suggestion was put into immediate practice through the panel discussion by students from the eighth grades.

One of the questions which brought forth the most discussion from the panel which formed a Juvenile Jury was "Why should a whole class suffer, if one person misbehaves?" It posed a current problem in one classroom where a promised party with cake has been postponed several times because one of its members has not behaved.

The Juvenile Jury's answer was that the class should have changed its approach and included the disobedient children in their plans.

The panel discussion was recorded on tape by Joe Whalen for his Inquiring Reporter show on WVPO. Participating in the panel were Katherine Gerard, Yvonne Smith, Myrna Fish, Gary Cortright, Bernadine Walker, Richard Hilliard, and Bonnie Feinrich with Mrs. Janet Richards serving as moderator.

The PTA members later agreed that more round table discussions with children, parents and teachers participating might solve a lot of common problems.

A brief business meeting preceded the program, with Mrs. Josephine Squires presiding. Delegates reported on the School for Parents. It was announced that the rummage sale had brought in approximately $40. Members were asked to donate cakes for the coming amateur show.

Games and refreshments served by the hostesses ended the party. Prizes were won by Miss LaFue High, Mrs. Richard Shupp, Mrs. Arlington Martin, and by Susan Shupp, Karen Everett and Jimmy Hook.

The committee in charge included Mrs. Shirley Rader, chairman; Mrs. William Gould, Mrs. William Knecht, Mrs. James Knecht, Mrs. Robert Stuart, Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. James Hannan, Mrs. Etta Faust, Mrs. Arthur Dinstel.

Other members who attended were: Miss Clara High, Miss LaRue High, Mrs. William High, Mrs. Arlington Martin, Mrs. Carrie Feikert, Mrs. Emma Kresge, Mrs. Haydon Murphy, Mrs. Richard Shupp, Mrs. Leo Everett, Mrs. Everett Shafer, Mrs. Clark Frantz, Mrs. Robert Blum, Mrs. Stanley Weiss, Mrs. Russell Raughley, Mrs. John Shotwell, Mrs. Ferdinand Schmidt, Mrs. LeRoy Shupp, Mrs. Lillian Gould, Mrs. Kenneth Ackey, Mrs. Dewey Scheller, Susan Shupp, Karen Everett, Jimmy Hook.

Mrs. Cora Price and Mrs. Mabel Lightner are leaving Florida for the North this week. They spent three months in Riviera Beach and one in Kissimmee, where they spent a lot of time with Mr. and Mrs. Orin Smith.

They report that the Smiths have built a new home there and Mr. Smith has made the nicest yard and garden in the area.

Mrs. Price and Mrs. Lightner have been living in an apartment in Kissimmee where they picked oranges and tangerines from the trees in the back yard. At Riviera they were in a trailer court with more than 150 travelers.

On their way home they expect to stop in Philadelphia while Mrs. Lightner visits friends at Blackwood, N. J., and Mrs. Price visits her son and his wife in Vineland, N. J. They expect to be home by Easter.

Mrs. Ashton Burrows Sr. was in charge of devotions and there was music by the auxiliary chorus. The Mary-Martha Circle served as hostesses.

At the meeting of Hadassah at Temple Israel this week, Mrs. Martin Ellsweig reviewed the book "Focus" by Arthur Miller.

During the business meeting plans were made for the annual Donor Dinner to be held April 20 at the Temple Israel.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses. Mrs. Sol Katz, Mrs. Nathan Hammerman, Mrs. Maurice Feidell, Mrs. Martin Ellsweig

Visitors were Kathy Ann Miller and Janice Bergbresser.

The Juvenile Jury's answer was that the class should have changed its approach and included the disobedient children in their plans.

The panel discussion was recorded on tape by Joe Whalen for his Inquiring Reporter show on WVPO. Participating in the panel were Katherine Gerard, Yvonne Smith, Myrna Fish, Gary Cortright, Bernadine Walker, Richard Hilliard, and Bonnie Feinrich with Mrs. Janet Richards serving as moderator.

The Barons of Brewton Parker earned the right to appear in the tournament by gaining an 81-78 verdict over Chipola Junior College of Marianna, Fla., and a 102-84 decision over Jacksonville, Fla., Junior College. The Barons were then declared Regional Eight Champions. Dennis Roth, Lehighton, and Don Wert, Catawissa, were named to honorable mention positions on the United Press All-Pennsylvania Scholastic basketball team released yesterday. Don Dougherty, former basketball star at Barrett High, is now a freshman at ESSTC. Gon is also coaching the Barrett cage machine that has advanced to the semi-final round in the Oxford, N. Capacity Crowd On Hand For ESSTC Gymnastic Exhibition

A capacity crowd jammed itself in the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College gymnasium last night to watch the annual Health and Physical Education Department Gym Exhibition. The entire program was under the direction of Oscar J. Lillenstein, athletic director at the college.

Dodgers Rally To Triumph Over Phillies

The exhibition featured approximately 250 students of the Health and Physical Education Department. The program consisted of various exercises and dances from regular class room routines.

All four classes took part in the affair.

The outcome of the junior event was never in doubt, as the Pocono Manor cagers constructed a 41-28 edge at halftime. Turner's club had the better of the going in the third round, but the winning club ran wild in the last period to claim victory.

Biggs' Quintet, Pocono Manor Gain Verdicts

Biggs' Restaurant won over Jack's Market, 98-88, in the senior division of the Monroe County YMCA Elimination Basketball Tournament last night, and Pocono Manor Service Station crushed Turner's Meat Market, 95-70, in the junior bracket of the same tournament. Both games were played on the YMCA court.

The opening contest found Jack's Market, actually the East Stroudsburg High varsity and Gailand "Andy" Anderson, of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College basketball note, fought the highly regarded Biggs' club on even terms until the last period.

Biggs' made up to a great extent of the Stroudsburg High varsity, led from start to finish, but the high scoring antics of Anderson and his mates kept Jack's club in the thick of the battle.

The ultimate winner led 20-14 at the end of the first period and 40-34 at halftime. The score favored Biggs' club, 65-59, going into the final round.

Even though Biggs' contingent was forced to play the last five minutes with only four players, because of too many personal fouls, the leaders held the upper hand right to the final whistle.

Anderson picked up 30 points in a losing cause, 17 in the first half. Dave "Muscles" Everitt, with 23 markers, was the big gun in a winning cause.

Bob Miller and Jim "Cocky" Wilson paced Pocono Manor Service Station to an easy victory in the nightcap. The Pocono Manor team is made up almost entirely of the Tobyhanna Township High cage machine.
